

Aubrey Cottle

Bowmanville, Ontario, Canada

Aubrey Cottle has a six-year history of stating he has cooperated with, or worked for multiple different Law Enforcement organizations, including INTERPOL, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. In addition, Cottle has talked extensively about running honeypots for child pornography involving multiple different sites.

Cottle's outright admissions to working with state intelligence agencies are not just past or present, but over time. In addition, he has outright encouraged his audience on Twitter to contact UK authorities to have a long-time journalist and activist "forced to seek help".

In addition to his statements about law enforcement, Cottle has a long history of making racist and antisemitic remarks, including posting pictures of swastikas, pro-Hitler, anti-Black racial slurs and posts with statements advocating death of Black and Jewish people.

Cottle has worked to have himself named "Founder of Anonymous", which was published in The Atlantic, in August 2020. The author admits in public posts that this entire claim is purely of Cottle's own mind. They have yet to issue a correction or footnote to the article.

Under the screen names Kirtaner, RealOGAnonymous, renatriK, and ThatNotoriousK on Twitter, Aubrey has been quite vocal about hacks surrounding Parler, Gab and Epik. His statements are clearly the work of someone who would like quite a lot of attention for themselves and those around them. His behavior and statements appear very similar in nature to Sabu's, after being arrested, agreeing to become a CI for the FBI in less than 24 hours, forming Antisec in less than a month, and coordinating the hack of Stratfor, released on Christmas Day of that year. His cooperation with the FBI led to the imprisonment of other activists, and harassment/arrests of their families and loved ones.

[9] Aubrey Cottle is a regular on Gregg Housh's podcast, and was platformed to a more mainstream audience by Gregg. Cottle was made very aware of Gregg's history of cooperating with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

I also encourage reporting most of his Twitter account for targeted harassment. Make sure you archive it first, courts will want to see his baseless claims as we will be seeking compensation.

Gregg hasn't spoken publicly about snitching at any point until after I made those court documents public. In fact, the only times he's spoken about being arrested.. he's claimed that he gave absolutely nothing to police. Everything he's said has been counter to the evidence.

Interesting anecdote on 4chan by the way – there's always been endemic rumors that 4chan was basically protected as a law enforcement honeypot for anyone who would upload child abuse imagery. No solid proof I'm aware of, and you'd have to be an idiot to actually do that.

i was the lucky one to have the blessing of alphabet agencies to weaponize anonymous (as an antiterrorism thing, to boot), those that came after me, not so much

i'm canadian too so that changes the calculus and it was a laughable concept too

Perhaps BB should grow a pair and stop making Neal famous. The dude running his project is an accelerationist cop who runs a revenge porn site and whose hobbies include welfare checks as swats and inducing paranoia. How tf did that even happen?

(That's like 10ish)

And you know what tf else? Doesn't he have some kind of donation thing? How the entire fuck can he not find his own hosting?

Anyway...idek. The ish he's going on about is so completely divorced from reality I'm honestly almost worried.
